A Message from
President Adela de la Torre, Ph.D.

Dear SDSU Community,

We hope this message finds you and your loved ones healthy, safe, and well.

For 123 years, San Diego State University has overcome hurdles, risen to new heights, and defied expectations. Now is no exception. We are so fortunate that our core values — courage, empathy and resilience — will guide us so that together we can forge our new future. We are one university. We will advance and we will RISE together.

And, because of your generosity, we continue to break records. This past year was our highest fundraising year ever; with more than $127 million in gift commitments and nearly 25,000 individual gifts received. We are grateful for your unwavering support of San Diego State – thank you!
